The Lawson Name

The surname Lawson is taken from 'Law' and denotes someone who is the 'son of law'. The most likely source of the name is either from the name Lawrence believed to have originated from a person who lived near a laurel tree or from the Old English word hlaw meaning a hill and therefore a person 'the son of who lived on or near the hill'.

Records indicate that the earliest use of the Lawson name was documented in the 14th century in Upper Littondale, Yorkshire, an area close to the present day villages of Litton and Arncliffe on the River Skirfare, a tributary of the River Wharfe. Surnames or 'add-on' names can generally only be traced back to this time in history when they were adopted in order to distinguish individuals of the same forename. From that time the surname was handed down from father to son and occasionally from mother to son.

It is believed that the Lawson name spread from this area to the remainder of Yorkshire and throughout several adjoining Counties in Northern England. Records also indicate that the Lawson name existed in Scotland from 14th century where it was most commonly found in Lowland Eastern Counties. In Scotland Lawson families have links with the McLaren Clan.

It is probable that more than one original source of the name exists. The Lawson name today is found commonly in all English speaking countries. There is evidence that the Lawson name was adopted from the European (mostly Scandinavian) name Larsen and similar surnames when emigration to the British Isles took place.

Notes for Dorothy Constable:

After the celebration of Dorothy's marriage, it is stated that "she was conducted from Wing to Burton, in external pomp and shew like a glorious bride. Shee rested att Burton untill all Holderness came to congratulate, some as friends and allies, others as servants and vassalls, but all promiscuously pretending tith to a proportion of the solmenity. From Burton shee departed towards Brough with a far larger retinue than before: But it most encreased at Leeman, a village six miles from the end of her journey, where she was forced to make a halt by Sir Ralph Lawson, who att his first approach (which was glorious to envy) with a hundred horse of his attendance, saluted her with ordinary salute of the kingdom, but after an extraordinary manner, not permitting her to alight; then he took her from horse himself, imparted his benediction, which she humbly craved on her knees in the dust, and mounted her again on a snow white steed he brought for her. ..."

After this event, we have records only on Hugh Lawson. Hugh, settled in Chester Co., PA Moved to Lunenburg Co., VA about 1743. Judge of the first Court of the County, JP, Became a Member of Virginia Assembly May 5, 1746. Virginia Historical Magazine, Vol. X p321, Records Joseph Habersham DAR - 400, 534, 587

It has become customary among genealogical writers on the Lawson family to say that Hugh Lawson first settled in Pennsylvania, from whence he came to VA with brothers John and Roger. One who has traced his connecting lines back, however, states that he and his brothers were cousins, some degrees removed, from the early VA emigrants, Rowland and Epaproditus Lawson and Christopher Lawson. The exact statement of Mrs. Caroline Belle Price on this matter is: "The record of Epaproditus Lawson and Rowland Lawson, of VA, shows that their ancestor, Sir Henry Lawson of 'Brough Hall' (in England) was the father of their cousin Capt. John Lawson, from whom Col. Hugh Lawson descended". Mrs. Price further says: "Hugh Lawson married Mary Moore, daughter of Charles Moore and Margaret Barry."

Hugh moved to Rowan County, NC. Was there from 1759 to 1772. He was the grantee in a deed of record in Salisbury made by the Agent of the Earl of Granville in 1759, conveying to him 350 acres of land. Will made 9/20/1764 and probated in Rowan County, NC in 1772. Buried in Bakers Graveyard, two miles west of Center Church; in Iredell CO, NC

The name of Hugh Lawson on the early tythe lists of VA, and the records show that he was one of the tythe takers for Lunenburg Co, in the years 1748, 1749 and as late as 1752, after which time he had probably removed to the upper part of Mecklenburg Co, near the supposed l between the present Mecklenburg and Rowan Co. Dr. Hunter in his sketches says that he built a fine home on Davidson's Creek and owned lands on both sides of the stream. See map on page 380 of these notes for its location. When Hugh Lawson died his will was proven in Rowan Co, though it is well known that he was buried in Baker's Graveyard near Cowan's Ford in Mecklenburg Co.

Charles Moore, Deed. Charles Moore of Tyron Co, deed to his son in law Andrew Barry, a blacksmith, to land on both sides of Tyger River, on Lawson's Creek, bounded by the lands of Hugh Lawson. (This land was below the of the present NC, SC, but at that time was considered a part of Tryon Co). The deed was executed between 1762 and 1779, which was the life-time of Tryon County. It shows that Hugh Lawson owned lands in upper SC at the time of his death, which adjoined lands belonging to Charles Moore, Lawson's wife having been Mary Moore, a sister of Charles moore, and the daughter of a Charles Moore and his wife Margaret Barry, the parents of Prof. Charles Moore.

Genealogy Notes Pertaining to Census Records of Mecklenburg County - District No.7

Between Cowan's Ford and Beattie's Ford, on the Catawba, and a short distance from the old river itself, as attempted to be portrayed on the map, is the burial place of that early religious patriot and missionary Rev. John Thomson, known as Baker's Graveyard. In this place also sleep the last remains of Mary Price, sister of Major John Davidson; Hugh Lawson, father in law of Hugh Barry and Samuel Baker. Up to some fifty years ago there were crude head and foot stones, on one of which was carved the initials "H-L" marking the grave of Hugh Lawson. Now the spot is a shambles, yielding at last to the ravages of centuries, its enclosing stone fence torn down to build a highway for the modern, speeding generations. The stately oaks, under which Rev. John Thomson delivered his stirring pioneer sermons between 1751 and 1753, no longer spread their sacred foliage to the Catawba breezes, but there are still signs of unmistakable import that they once marked the hallowed spot, now passing into the oblivian of forgotten history.

[Rev. John Thomson, father in law of Samuel Baker; Hugh Lawson, father in law of Hugh Barry.]

Notes for Roger Lawson:

Roger and Hannah Lawson received grants of land in Rowan Co., NC in 1752. On February 23, 1754, Roger was granted 600 acres of land in the Tyger River section of SC. Was sold December 23, 1762 to Charles Moore. Roger was then already in GA. They came to Georgia in 1759 and were granted land on Walnut Creek, Burke Co. (Now Jefferson County) (Colonial Land Grants, Vol 7) He received 287.5 acres of land in Washington Co., Ga. as bounty for services in Revolutionary war. Five sons served in this war, Hugh, Roger Jr., John Thompson, and Andrew Thompson. He later married Margaret McGill. Roger lived on Bostick Hill in his home called Mt. Pleasant at Louisville, GA. It was here that Henry Clay paid court to one of the lovely Lawson daughters. In the Lawson era, Mount Pleasant was a one story dwelling. Later a second story was added. It was torn down in about 1931.

Roger Lawson (died 1803) is buried in the "Pre-Revolutionary Cemetery" off of route 24 in Louisville, GA. The cemetery is across the street from Bostick hill where Mt. Pleasant was built. He is buried next to John Gamble, his son-in-law. Also, next to John Gamble's headstone is the tombstone of Roger Lawson Gamble (died 1847).

James White was a soldier, public official, Founder of Knoxville, born in Rowan Co., NC now part of Iredell Co. NC. His parents were Moses and Mary White. During the American Revolution, James White was a Captain of the N.C. Militia, he was entitled for his military services to a grant of land. In that year he with Robert Love, Francis A. Ramsey, Alexander McMillan and others made a tour of exploration to select desirable tracts of land in East Tennessee. They traveled as far down the Holston (Now the Tennessee) river as the present Lenoir City. The next year Capt. White moved from N.C. to Fort Chiswell, Va, where he remained about one year. In 1785, he helped organize the State of Franklin, & was member of the General Assembly and its Constitutional Convention that met at Greenville. That same year he removed with his family to what is now Knox County and settled on the North side of the French Broad, near the present Riverdale, the same place that Alexander Campbell, who established Campbell's Station later, had lived on in 1790. The next year, 1786, Capt. White and some other families settled on White's Creek, built a cabin and cleared lands. 1789 he was representative from Hawkins Co. in the Legislature of N.C. and a member of the convention that ratified the Constitution of the U.S. In 1790 he was appointed by Wm. Blount Major of militia and Justice of the Peace of Hawkins Co. Oct 3, 1791 the town of Knoxville was laid out and Knox Co. created from Hawkins and Greene Co., and Major white was appointed lieutenant-colonial commendant. A Representative from Georgia; born near Louisville, Jefferson County, Ga., in 1787; completed preparatory studies; studied law; was admitted to the bar about 1815 and commenced practice in Louisville, Ga.; cotton planter; served in the War of 1812 as a commissioned officer; member of the State house of representatives in 1814 and 1815; elected as a Jacksonian to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833-March 3, 1835); unsuccessful candidate for reelection in 1834 to the Twenty-fourth Congress; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841-March 3, 1843); unsuccessful candidate for reelection in 1842 to the Twenty-eighth Congress; judge of the superior court of Georgia 1845-1847; died in Augusta, Ga., December 20, 1847; interment in Old Capitol Cemetery, Louisville, Ga.

Roger Lason Gamble is buried in the "Pre-Revolutionary Cemetery" off of route 24 in Louisville, GA. He is buried next to John Gamble, his father. Also, next to John Gamble's headstone is Roger Lawson's headstone inscribed, "Roger Lawson, GA TROOPS, REV WAR." The tombstone of Roger Lawson Gamble is rather large and reads:

"Sacred to the memory of the Honorable Roger L. Gamble who died 20th Dec 1847, aged 60 Years. Industry, Perseverance, and Integrity Raised the Deceased from the humbler wills of life, to a Position of Eminence and Usefulness. He served his country as a commissioned officer in the last war with Great Britian, prominent member of the legislature of Georgia, as a representative in the Congress of the United States, and as a Judge of the Supreme Court of his native state. In the later years of his life, he served his Master as an Elder of the Presbyterian faith in the Church Militant."

Notes for William Clements Bothwell:

William C. Bothwell was a physician who had a "horse and buggy" practice, riding a circuit through Jefferson, Dooly, Marion, and Lee counties to visit patients. He was listed among the students graduating from Augusta Medical College in the class of 1843. He married Sarah M. Hooks, daughter of Bardin and Sarah Walters Hooks of Montezuma, GA, on December 3, 1846. They had a home (which is still standing) and a large plantation in Lee County. Dr. bothwell died February 28, 1857, and was buried in the Hooks family cemetery east of Montezuma (on the farm formerly owned by the Hooks, now owned by a Mennonite family). Sarah Hooks Bothwell died January 18, 1899. William and Sarah had four children: Ebenezer, David Thomas, James Samuel, and William Bardin. Ebenezer and James died in early childhood; the other sons married and had children.

Notes for Agnes Rust Atkinson:

Notes for AGNES RUST ATKINSON:

Agnes and William had one son they named James Shiver Bothwell. William's mother, Sarah Hooks Bothwell, apparently objected to the marriage between Agnes and William, perhaps because Agnes' family was not of the same social class as the Bothwells. During Agnes' pregnancy and after the son was born, William's mother persuaded him that the baby was not his, prompting William to write an "anonymous" letter to the Sumter Republican about the woes of a husband with an unfaithful wife. The contents of the letter described the people involved so accurately that apparently everyone in town knew who had written the letter. After the letter's publication, Agnes' brother Youel wrote a reply to William defending his sister's purity and threatening to kill him if he ever came up to Americus. We have copies of the originals of both these letters. but not of the versions printed in the paper. Subsequent to this scandal, Agnes and William divorced and Agnes left town, presumably because of the damage to her reputation. In Sarah Hooks Bothwell's will she refers to the son of my son William's wife, "whom I do not believe to be my grandson" and specifically cuts the child out of any inheritance from her family.

Agnes and son James moved from Albany, Georgia to Apopka, Florida to meet John Gilbert Pope whom Agnes had known in Albany. Agnes and John were married in Apopka, Florida.

A short time later Agnes's father, Henry Dewilder Atkinson, died and Agnes's mother, Susan Gertrude Atkinson, moved to Apopka, Florida and lived with Agnes and John Gilbert Pope and their son James.

James Shiver who was 5 years of age at the time was given the name of or called James Shiver Pope.

The family of four, Agnes, John, James, and mother-in-law Susan Gertrude moved to Kissimmee.

While in Kissimmee, Florida Susan Gertrude met and married her second husband William Sigsbee.

Census from Miami, Florida, 1900 indicates that Agnes gave birth to 7 children by John Gilbert Pope and 6 lived. Mr. Pope died in a yellow fever epidemic and the oldest son, called Shiver, supported the family by working at the Miami Depot of the Florida East Coast Railway. Sometime after Mr. Pope's death Agnes told her son Shiver that Mr. Pope had not been his father, and that his real father was a William Bothwell. Shiver then began using the name of James Shiver Bothwell.

We believe that William is the father of Shiver, even if he (William ) does not think so. If it were not true, why would Agnes have upset Shiver, who was perfectly happy believing that Mr. Pope was his father? In addition, Agnes was clearly the only person who knew for certain who Shiver's father was, and she could have named anyone from her past life in Georgia as the father, but she named William Bothwell.
